DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Bethlehem School, situated in a mountainous area southwest of Kitzmiller, is typical of the frame, 1-story gable-roofed school houses constructed in rural Garrett County during the late 19th century.

It is 5 bays by 1 bay with a smaller one-bay gable roofed wing at the southwest end, housing the entrance which is located on the southeast elevation. It appears by the seam in the main block that two bays at the northeast end were added.

The school rests on concrete block piers. The walls are covered with weatherboard siding and the roof with tarpaper. There is a central brick chimney. Windows are 4/4 sash with plain board surrounds. The school is presently abandoned.
